Dear Sustaining Partner,

“...When the Son of Man comes, will He find faith on the earth?” (Like 18:8)

Recently, I met with a group of young moms about the work we do through this ministry. They were surprised at the depth and scope of the work we do. Of course, our front-line mission is to save the lives of babies, but just as important, to build the faith of individuals who are in the family of the pre-born child. It is only when we are sure there is an authentic relationship with God, that we know the baby's life will be somewhat stable and healthy.

As usually happens when I answer questions regarding abortion laws and practices, several women in the group were appalled. I can't say I blame them as I never get beyond the shock that abortion is so easily accepted as a preferred way to deal with an unplanned pregnancy. It's difficult to imagine from a "faith" perspective how the murder of a little child is so easily justified.

For Life!
