

December 2014

Dear Sustaining Partner,

“Be astonished! Wonder! Because I am doing something in your days. You would not believe if you were told.” Habakkuk 1:5

“And the shepherds went back, glorifying and praising God for all that they had heard and seen, just as had been told them.” Luke 2:20

“Places where grace is--- soon to be so amazing. It may be unfulfilled, it may be unrestored, but when anything that’s shattered is laid before the Lord. Just watch and see, it will not be...unredeemed.”

“Unredeemed,” by Selah. Written by Robert Cates, Tony Wood, Brian Petak

Have you noticed that God is all about announcements? The problem with me is that when someone (even God) tells me something is going to happen, I expect it NOW or at least in the foreseeable future. I don't like to wait. I don't wait well, which is exactly why I spend half my life...yep, you got it...waiting. To be honest, most everything feels like waiting. Throughout my life the most complications have come to me as a consequence when I've tried to speed up the process...make it happen.

For Life!

Lisa J Stiefken
Executive Director